Graduate Attributes (Higher Education)

Graduates from the Higher Education courses at West Coast Institute are expected to demonstrate four core attributes:

Scholarship

Professional responsibility

Communication skills

Personal responsibility

---

Scholarship, to develop and maintain knowledge and skills that are required of contemporary graduates and applicable to modern workplaces.

- Critical thinking and problem solving
- Self-directed and continuous learning
- Ability to analyse and synthesise information
- Use of technology, processes and materials relevant to the professional area

Professional responsibility, for successful careers.

- Informed and ethical decision-making
- Welfare of colleagues and clients
- Meeting the expectations of internal and external stakeholders
- Knowledge of legislative requirements in the workplace
- Understanding of corporate responsibility and the triple bottom line concept of sustainability (financial, environmental, and social performance)

Communication skills, for the 21st century.

- Written, verbal, digital and numerical literacy
- Professional presentation of scholarly reports using written, verbal or electronic modes of delivery
- Teamwork, collaboration, leadership and effective interpersonal skills

Personal responsibility, consistent with community expectations.

- Accountable and ethical behaviour
- Effective organisational and self-management skills
- Knowledge of change and new trends in industry
- Global perspective and cultural awareness
- Innovative, creative and entrepreneurial thinking and behaviour

Approved by Academic Board: November 2013